

EMPLOYEES HELPING EMPLOYEES

CORE PURPOSE

The “core purpose” of Employees Helping Employees, Inc. is to help employees facing short-term financial adversity when there is no other helping hand (and as consistent with our capabilities to help).

MISSION STATEMENT

Employees Helping Employees, Inc. (EHE) is a non-profit corporation founded to financially help public service employees who have suffered a severe hardship that could not have been planned for or anticipated. EHE is a resource intended to benefit those employees who fall into a gap in which there is no help available from other community social service agencies because public service employees make too much money to qualify for financial assistance. The public service agencies currently served are Arizona State and Maricopa County employees.

OBJECTIVES

to be the financial lifeline for those employees who are “on the job” and find it difficult to obtain emergency financial assistance because they are employed to assist when typically funds are not available from other sources because low wages are over the income level to receive assistance to assist in maintaining a productive workforce to relieve the burden of government to be a last resort for an employee who has exhausted all other possibilities, i.e., family, friends, charities, etc to ensure that financial help is available for those who genuinely need it to be used only once by an employee (in rare cases, employees may receive assistance a second time)
